Saturday, March 2, 2024

Daily Schedule TBA

University of Kentucky

Healthy Kentucky Research Building First Floor Atrium

760 Press Avenue

Lexington, Kentucky, 40508

The University of Kentucky’s Graduate Appalachian Research Community \(GARC\) is an official graduate student organization promoting interdisciplinary dialogue on Appalachian research. Our mission is to foster a supportive community in which students from various disciplines learn from each other's findings, discuss research obstacles and successes, and have a venue to present their Appalachian-based research, and collaborate.

Alongside the UK Appalachian Center and Appalachian Studies Program, GARC is proud to continue our tradition of symposia on Appalachia with the 2024 UK Appalachian Research Symposium & Arts Showcase to be held Saturday, March 2, 2024. The event will be primarily in-person in order to create community and facilitate collegiality, though if necessary those who are unable to attend physically can join us virtually. We intend to record all presentations during the Symposium and make them available online with presenters’ consent.

The Symposium is open to all undergraduate and graduate students of all disciplines from all colleges and universities doing work pertaining to Appalachia. Registration is free for both presenters and registered attendees. The Symposium is intended to foster a supportive community in which students from various fields can present their Appalachian-based research and creative work. This year’s Symposium will provide an opportunity for students to network, collaborate, learn from each others’ findings, and explore issues relevant to Appalachian communities. Students creating performance or visual artworks related to Appalachia are strongly encouraged to participate.

This year's theme is Just Futures. While Appalachia is often imagined as mired intractably in the past, our focus on just futures was chosen to envision together what just Appalachian futures might look like. Attention to just futures provides an opportunity to bring together transdisciplinary work on social justice and equity across disciplines, including environmental studies, medicine and public health, life and physical sciences, the social sciences and humanities, and more, and interrogate broadly what justice looks like and what it means for different people and in different contexts. Through exploration of interdisciplinary research and arts, the Symposium will exhibit how different groups have imagined just futures within the region, resisting singular constructions of Appalachia and stagnant regional representations to present the complex, engaging, and ever-evolving understandings of what it means to be Appalachian and live and work in the region. We call upon participants to engage with questions of justice, futurity, and time, confront regional stereotypes, and consider what a just future might look like. What would it mean to imagine and create just futures for Appalachians?

Abstract Submission and Symposium Registration Information

Work must be related to Appalachia, original, and produced in the last 3 years. While we suggest submitting work related to the theme, we welcome any and all Appalachia-related submissions!

Abstract Submission: To be considered for inclusion in the Symposium, students should submit a 200-250 word abstract (a brief summary/overview of your work) online by 5 pm ET on Friday, February 9th, 2024. Notice of submission acceptance will be emailed by February 9th. To submit an abstract, please use this form: 2024 Abstract Submission Form.

Symposium Registration: Registration for attendance is online and due by 5 pm ET on Friday, February 16th, 2024. All presenters must also register as attendees. Registration will ensure seating and refreshments. To register: 2024 Registration Form \(for both presenters and non-presenting attendees\).

Submission and Presentation Details for Potential Presenters

- Presenters should expect presentation slots to be approximately 10-15 minutes with an additional Q&A session after each panel presentation. We can often accommodate longer times for musical performance, films, or presentation of artistic work. Please contact us to discuss.

Things To Do Around Lexington

Come a day early or stay a day late! Kentucky has amazing art, cultural, historical, and environmental recreation opportunities! Here are just a few in Lexington and surrounding areas:

- Did you know that 95% of the world's bourbon is made in Kentucky? Make a stop at a distillery on the Kentucky Bourbon Trail! The Barrel House Distillery is conveniently located in Lexington.
 - There are over 450 champion horse farms in Kentucky. Visit over 1,000 horses at the Kentucky Horse Park, a 20-minute drive from UK's campus.
 - As Kentucky's oldest garden cemetery and home to Henry Clay's mausoleum, the Lexington Cemetery is an excellent place to walk, reflect, and watch nature. The cemetery also hosts the second-largest basswood tree in North America!
 - Famous for its world-class rock climbing, hiking, archaeological sites, natural rock bridges (Natural Bridge) and breathtaking scenery, the Red River Gorge in the Daniel Boone National Forest is a 1.25-hour drive south from Lexington.
 - The Shaker Village of Pleasant Hill, the largest surviving historic collection of dwellings built by this utopian sect, is only a 35-minute drive from Lexington!
 - The Mary Todd Lincoln House Museum, the family home of the wife of our 16th President, Abraham Lincoln, is a great place to learn more about this famous American family!
 - Visit the UK Art Museum located in the heart of campus with free admission to all!
